COLONIAL THEATRE. Comus Comedy Players, Entertained Large Audiences at Colonial.

The return engagement of the Comus Comedy Players to the Colonial theatre last evening, was hampered only by the weather man. Everybody only by the weather man. Everybody else smiled, for the hour and a quarter given to the presentation of their excellent production was a happy one. Every joke and every 2ct was duly appreciated, and the talented players were in fine form for their work. Funny Mr. Curry, the comedian of the cast, gave his hearers a little inkling on Peace. In fact he sung about it, and talked about it, and his song, and talked about it, and his song, "Peaceful Rafferty," was overflowing with the elements of Peace. According with the elements of Peace, According to the song, Rafferty must have been "Some Peace Advocate." That Lovin' Traumeri, and adaptation of the familiar Traumerei as sung by Miss Kittle Deem, met with popular favor at once, and Mr. Tom Whalen received an avaiton in his mastely recitations. an ovation in his masterly recitations. Sprinkle Me With Kisses, another song in which the company work the house, met with instant favos, and an enthusiastic encore was demanded. The First Train Back Home, is sung by Mr. Murray, one of the most pop-uler men in the cast. Little Mina Graham, who made such a hit here at the last engagement, appears in a single singing turn, in which she renders When I Marry You, a cute little song which gives her fibundant opportunity to show her versatility. Miss Moran, the ever-popular favorite in this city sings. The Perfect Day and this city, sings The Perfect Day, and wins her house by her superb singing, voice and presence. The whole bill is further augmented by a strong dramatic sketch, entitled Behind the Scenes, and ends with the rollicking and propersies. and nonsensical baseball skit. strong and stirring chorusses by entire company.

AMERICAN SUPPORT FOR HOSPITAL AT TOKIO, JAPAN President Wilson and His Fiancee Attend Meeting in Its Interest.

Washington, Dec. 13 .- President Wilson and his fiancee, Mrs. Norman Galt, members of the cabinet and Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, atchinda, the Japanese ambassador, attended a meeting held here late today in the interest of St. Luke's International hospital at Tokio, Japan.

Dr. Rudolf F. Teusler, superintendent of the hospital, Mrs. Charles R. Pancoast of Philadelphia and Eishop L Kinsolving of Brazil

Americans support the hospital as an evidence of friendship between the United States and Japan. This pro-ject, Dr. Teusler said, would establish a modern hospital in the Far East and he added that the promotion of such institutions was the best way to build up good relations between the two

Substantial subscriptions followed appeal for assistance voiced by hop Alfred Harding of Washington, who presided. The emperor of Japan has given $25,000 to the hospital. HARRIMAN HAD HIS EYES ON BOSTON & MAINE. At One Time Mellen Was Almost Ready to Sell It to Him.

New York, Dec. 13.—The late E. H. Harriman had his eyes on the Boston and Maine railroad, and at one time Charles S. Mellen was almost ready to sell it to him, according to Mr. Mel-len's testimony today at the trial of the eleven former directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad under the Sherman anti-trust law. But the New Haven finally de-clined to sell and obtained from Maclined to sell and obtained from Mas-sachusetts legislation which enabled it to hold the Boston and Maine under the laws of that state. Had Harriman acquired the road, Mr. Mellen testified, the result would have been that the entire New England railroad system would have lost its independence. The New Haven, with Harriman in control of the Boston and Maine, would have been un-able to maintain its independence of the trunk lines to the west.

Work at Providence Deaconess Home Described at Methodist Church-Guest from Chicago-Briefs and Personals.

Sunday evening at the First Meth-Sunday evening at the First Methodist church there was a most interesting address by Miss Hagan, a member of the Deaconess home on Prairie avenue, Providence. Less than 28 years ago this deaconess work was started, she said, without a cent; now it has property amounting to $4,000,000. This has come mostly from small. 000. This has come mostly from small gifts. There are homes for the aged, for babies, homes and schools for boys and girls, hospitals, sanitariums and rest homes all over the country; the deaconesses number 1,000. With wideopen door we care for the needy, destitute lovely foresken and ared titute, lonely, forsaken and aged.

The Providence work is nearly as old as the Boston, which was the oldest. In the Providence plant are visiting deaconesses, two girls' homes, the Central Girls' league, fresh air work, travelers' aid in the union station. We began first to visit in the homes of the people, the sick, shut-in, poor, the stranger. In the latter case many church letters have been brought to light. The deaconess is pastor's as-sistant, working in different church societies. The speaker showed the contrast between wealthy and poverty and how each has helped the other. If you could come with me and see the drink misery in all its arminal to the country of the cou drink misery in all its awfulness noverty and distress, you would never for-The Central Girls' league is in the heart of the city and is for those who work in stores and factories. There is work in stores and factories. There is a rest room and a room where they can heat their lunch. Last month 1,300 girls had lunches there. The members number 500, paying 25 cents a year. There are classes in sewing, gymnastics, and for study. All this is thoroughly appreciated, and the girls are found in the church services. The Prairie avenue home is for working girls; we have 23 who are earning small wages, with no home, or homes at a distance. We ask three of four dollars a week for room and homes at a distance. We ask three or four dollars a week for room and board. These girls earn from $4.32 to $7 per week. It haunts me the great army whom we can't help. I wish we could have laws enforcing a decent wage. Until then we must shield, protect, counsel and guide the training girls of today. We must just young girls of today. We must just keep trying. Some day we shall say: Everything is all right, and I had a little part in it. We have the glori-ous thought that we are co-workers together with God.

Noted Here and There. Miss Charlotte Albertine was at her some in South Coventry during the week end.

Miss Ida Johnson of Montville is visiting Mrs. Elisha P. Geer of the Scotland road.

Here's Nature's Own Remedy for Catarrh

Hyomel Relieves Catarrh Without the Use of Dangerous Drugs.

Not until Hyomel was discovered has it been possible to truthfully say that a real remedy for catarrh was known. Hyomel is an oil and its air is breathed through a small inhaler furnished with it for a few minutes for times a day, and during that time every particle of this Hyomel-laden air taken into the air passages and lungs is impregnated with a powerful germ-killing and health-giving antiseptic.

Will give you immediate comfort in the Home or Office, Full, new stock on hand.

germ-killing and health-giving antiseptic.

Sprays and lotions often cause disorders of the respiratory tracts or bring on some other diseases and never make a permanent cure of catarrh. But when the air of Hyomei penetrates to the inmost air cells of the lungs and enters the blood with the oxygen it not only kills the germs in the throat and nose, but kills the bacilli in the blood, freeing the mucous membranes from poisonous microbes and giving perfect health.

A complete outfit is inexpensive and includes an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hyomei for several weeks treatment. ment.

Lee & Osgood have so much faith in the merit of Hyomei that they agree to return the money to any purchaser who is not thoroughly satisfied.

POETRY GOD AND THE FARMER.

God sat down with the farmer
When the nochtide heat grew harsh
The One had builded a world that day
And the other had drained a marsh
They sat in the cooling shadow
At the porch of the templed wood;
And each looked forth on his handiwork,
And saw that the work was good.

On God's right hand two cherubs
Bent waiting, winged with fire;
On the farmer's left his oxen bowed,
Deep bosoms marked with mire.
Still clung around the plowshare
The dark, mysterious mold
Where the furrow it turned had heaved
the new
O'er the chill and churlish old.

Jehovah's face was seen not
By ox or grazing kine;
But the farmer's eyes, were they dazed
with sun.
Or saw he that look divine?
Was it the wind in passing
That stroked that farmer's hair?
Or had God's own hand of wind and flame Laid benediction there?

Through muffing miles he fancied
Far calls of greeting blew,
Where on sounding plains the lord of
war
Hurled down to rear anew.
Glad hall from nation-builders
Crossed faint those dreamland
bounds,
Like a brother's cry from a distant
hill,
And God spake at the pine-tree
sounds.

"There are seven downy meadows
That never before were mown;
There were seven fields of brush and Where now is no bush nor stone.
There are seven helfers grazing
Where but one could graze before.
O lords of marts—and of broken
hearts—
What have you given more?'

God rose up with the farmer
When the cool of the evening neared;
And the One went forth through the
worlds he built,
And the one through the fields he cleared.
The stars outlasting labor
Leaned down o'er the flowering soil;
And all night long o'er His child there leaned
A Toiler more old than toil.

—Frederick Erastus Pierce, in the Yale Review.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Hick—This match won't light. Hike—That's funny. It lit all right minute ago.—Michigan Gargoyle. "Frankle, aren't you coming in to kiss Auntie? "It's no use, mother; she won't stay kissed."—Life.

"You can't improve on nature. "That may be," said the druggist "but you'd be surprised at the amount of complexion dopes we sell."—Detroit Free Press. Gibbs-Bilson expressed a good deal of sympathy for poor Blank. Did you try him for a contribution? Dibbs—No. I know Bilson; he's like the letter "p"—first pity and last in help.—Boston Transcript. "I suppose you'll be in the gay so-cial whirl this winter."

"Who? Me?" replied Mr. Cumrox.
"Not a chance. The further my wife gets into society the more she real-izes that I don't belong."—Washing-ton Star.

"My bride is disappointed about housekeeping?

"Wkat's the trouble?"
"She can't get a maid who will curtsey like they do in the musical comedies she goes to see."—Kansas City Journal. Editor—This is a splendid piece of work—splendid!
Contributor—Yes?
Editor—Yes, it's so good that I'm going to send you over to one of our contemporaries with it in hope the editor will buy it and improve the tone of his publication.—Judge.

"I wouldn't go out at the end of every act, my boy. Beastly bad form."
"I don't go out to drink. I telephone home and get bulletins from the maid about the condition of the pan under the icebox. My wife can't enjoy the opera unless she knows there is no danger of that pan run-ning over."—Pittsburgh Post.
